STRUCK WITH A STONE

DEATH, YESTERDAY, OF HENRY PERGANDE, SIXTEEN YEARS OLD.

William McTaylor, Colored, Arrested and Charged with Being the Lad's Slayer.

William McTaylor, colored, who claims to | Charges 457,054 bave come here recently from Covington, Ky., was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of murder. Henry Pergande, sixteen years of age, living at 1527 Pleasant street, had died a few hours before as the result of an assault by McTaylor Sunday evening. A stone was the weapon causing the death of young Pergande, and it was thrown by McTaylor during a fight near Keystone avenue and the Big Four tracks. McTaylor told that he was walking about

8:30 Sunday night along the Big Four tracks and was accosted at Keystone avenue by five boys, Pergande, Fred Kiel, 837 South State street, Christian Tielking, 827 South State street, William Shaffer, 1522 Pleasant street, and Henry Boyke, 1619 Fletcher avenue. The lads demanded cigarettes in a threatening manner, intimating there would be trouble if they were not forthcoming, as they were members of the "Bungaloo gang." He said one of the boys even then insisted upon assaulting him. and he started down the track, starting to run as a number of stones were thrown at him. The boys followed and he stopped and threw two stones at them, but did not know until this morning that either had had any effect. The stories of the boys do not agree, but in the main corroborate the story of the negro. They claim, however, he was the aggressor, attacking them while they were on their way home from swimming, and were talking of the "Bungaloo gang" in voices which were undoubtedly heard by Pergande was, with the assistance of Shaffer, able to walk to his home, where he told he had been struck in the mouth with a rock. In a short time he became somewhat delirious and later unconscious. Dr. Gabe was called and he worked with the lad all night. The trouble was reported to the police about 7 o'clock yesterday morning and the day patrolmen were instructed to keep a lookout for the negro, of whom only a meagre description had been secured. Pergande died about 5:30 o clock from concussion caused by the

The coroner found the skull fractured in two places above the ear, and inside the skull pressing upon the brain was a clot od, covering the left lobe of the brain and about two inches in thickness. Friends of the family of the dead lad say he was not a member of the "Bungaloo gang," but a well-behaved, hardworking boy. The police say they know the lads with whom ne associated and that they pride themselves on being tough. The coroner will begin taking testimony to-day in the case for the purpose of as certaining the responsibility. McTaylor has retold his story many times and without material variations, and the police are inclined to think he is telling the truth. He admitted without hesitation that he nad thrown the stones at some of the lads and ufred as to whether or not any one of them had been injured.

BUSINESS OF LAST MONTH

THE LOADED CAR MOVEMENT OF JUNE, AND FOR SIX MONTHS.

Observance of Freight and Passenger Rates Looked For, the Presidents' Agreement Being in Effect.

In the month of June there were received and forwarded at Indianapolis 85,559 loaded cars, against 90,056 in June, 1899. In the six months ended with June 30 there were handled at Indianapolis 543,112 loaded cars, against 538,573 in the corresponding six months of 1899. While in June this year a decrease of 4,497 loaded cars is shown, for the six months the increase over last year was 5,539 loaded cars.

In the bulk yard of the Pennsylvania lines on South street there were handled in June 9,956 carloads of bulk freights, of which 80 per cent. consisted of fruits and vegetables. Last year in June there were handled on these bulk tracks 9,561 carloads of freight; increase this year of 395 cars. The Indiana, Decatur & Western handled at Indianapolis in June 3,442 cars, 2,714 being

In the month of June there were handled at the Pennsylvania freight depots 3,035 carloads of freight, weighing 23,398,566 pounds. In the month of June there were handled at the Big Four city freight depots 7,384 carloads of freight, 3,152 being loaded with in-bound business and 4,232 with out-bound freights. General Agent Fraser says that while no increase in number of loaded cars is shown over June last year, the outbound cars carried fully 10 per cent, more freight than in June, 1899, owing to the care exercised in loading cars to their full capacity.

There were handled on the Big Four system in June 138,206 loaded cars; on the Peoria & Eastern 16,950 loaded cars. In the month of June the Vandalia handled at Indianapolis 12,281 cars, 9,321 beng loaded cars. Of the in-bound busines 476 cars were loaded with live stock.

In the month of June there arrived and departed at the Union Station 4.254 trains, in which were hauled 24,884 cars. To show the increase in train service the last two months, the following figures are given: In January 3,954 trains, handling 22,128 cars; February 3,570 trains, handling 19,800 cars; March 3,964 trains, handling 22,003 cars; April 3,397 trains, handling 21,666 cars; May 4,247 trains, handling 24,877 cars; June 4,254 trains, handling 24,884 cars. The large increase in the last two months is due to the additional trains put on by the Big Four, the Panhandle, the Vandalia and the Indianapolis & Vincennes roads. Another feature of the present passenger business is the increase of the number of cars hauled per train. Last month it was 5.86 cars per train, when it usually averages but 5.8 cars per train. One good feature of the passenger business last month was that trains arrived and departed with more than ordinary punctuality, and the oldest of the passenger conductors state that they have never known travel in May and June to be as heavy as during the past two

In the month of June the roads delivered at the Union Stockyards 117,409 head of hogs, 11,028 head of cattle, 10,182 sheep, 2,106 horses and mules. The shipments of the month were 30,744 hogs, 2,706 head of cattle. 7,079 head of sheep and 1,544 horses and sell on commission an established and well In commenting on the handsome earnings the trunk lines and Central Traffic Assoclation lines are showing, and now reaching the Western lines, an observing railway official says it is already beginning to reflect on the general rate situation in the matter of imparting strength to tariff, and there is every indication that from now or there will be a better observance of tariff rates than there has been in many months During the past both the westbound and eastbound situation, and particularly in the latter direction, has given evidence of new life, and in the light of the understanding now in force there is every reason to expect a gradual improvement for an indenite period of time. The recent decision to brace up rates is to be carried out in a practical way, and with a firm eastbound situation there is little doubt that the firmness which characterizes the westbound situation will increase as the general situation improves. Eastern papers state that the trunk line westbound situation remains firm, notwithstanding the reported irregularities of some of the lines. Tennage westbound continues to be on the decline, but it is expected an improvement in this direction will come within the next

The Northern Pacific has countermanded orders recently issued for $300,000 worth of new freight cars. The failure of the wheat crop in the Northwest is given as the reason for this action.

Chief Car Inspector Chandler, of the Pullman Company, is in the city. He says the company now owns with the cars of the Wagner Company recently acquired 3,300 cars and is constantly adding new ones. District Passenger Agent Algeo, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and the Monon, in charge of the ticket offices at Indianapolls, states that the receipts from sales of tickets of the C., H. & D. in June were 16 per cent, in excess of June, 1899, and those of the Monon 28 per cent, ahead of last year. Passenger officials say that the joint passenger situation is firmer than ever before, thanks to the speedy adjustment of the excess fare issue, and there is now a better understanding among all the interested lines than there has been. The passenger situation is comparatively quiet, although travel is large, and from a revenue point of view the passenger outlook is decidedly who tried to do business during the Republican convention came to grief, were convicted and if the Pennsylvania had not interceded the quartet, it is stated, would now be breaking stone. As it is the four were let off with a fine of $200, which three paid, and the fourth went to prison. The law of Pennsylvania is very strict in regulating the sale of tickets, and scalpers have been cautioned to keep out of that State. The Wabash and the Missouri Pacific are Gould roads, and their transportation figures may be compared with profit. During the last fiscal year Wabash earned $6,320 gross and $1,748 net per mile, while the Missouri Pacific earned $5,686 gross and $1.711 net. Analysis of operating expenses shows that for maintenance of way and of cars Missouri Pacific expended more much the larger, as was also its cost of conducting transportation. Justice Bischoff in the New York Supreme Court yesterday said he would grant the application of the New York, New Haven & Hartford and the New York Central & Hudson River Railroads for a mandamus compelling the tax-board to strike out the assessment of $7,660,000 against the property for the two roads. The assessment in question was levied against the real estate. oadbeds, etc., of the two companies by the board of taxes. Big Four reports for eleven months of its fiscal year an increase of about $900,000 in the surplus after charges. Last year, that is, 1898-9, the company earned approximately 21/2 per cent. on the common stock. This year the indications are that it will show per cent, on the stock after allowing liberal expenditures on the property. Vanderbilt people talk bullishly on Big Four and say there is no question of its ability to continue dividends of 3 per cent. on the common stock in all but the very worst times. The surplus over the preferred stock dividends this year will be nearly $1,700,000, which is a substantial margin considering that the entire net earnings of the road will hardly exceed $50,000.

Philadelphia has been wiped off the

CIRCUIT COURT DOCKET

all the Courts Preparing for an Early Adjournment-Eighty Cases Dismissed.

Judge Allen, of the Circuit Court, devoted vesterday to straightening up his docket preparatory to beginning his special term of court Thursday, and expects to have everything cleared away by this evening so that he can more thoroughly enjoy the Fourth of July celebration to-morrow There is much to be done at this adjourned term, but he expects to dispose of all the cases set for hearing by the 15th, the date the three Superior Courts adjourn. The Superior Courts began their adjourned term yesterday without intermission, but Judge Allen decided to not hear cases the first two days of this week, so that he could work on his docket. The most important cases only, filed between now and the adjournment, will be heard, and he has entirely eliminated divorce suits not set for hearing. Any divorce suit filed from now on, or not set for hearing will be carried over till September.

The Superior Courts also have much to do in the two remaining weeks and all the dockets have been called. Indications are that all the courts will adjourn this summer with lighter dockets than usual Several weeks ago the judges began getting matters in shape for adjournment and dilatory attorneys having old cases pending were warned to actively interest themselves so that their suits could either be dismissed or shaped up for hearing. Judge McMaster was the last to call his docket and yesterday was given over to the disposal of old cases. There were 150 old cases on the record and eighty of these were dismissed for want of prosecution. This is an unusual number of dismissals, but the ample notices given to attorneys, allowing them time to investigate their cases to see if there was really anything in them, is considered responsible for the result.

The will of Helen Tate, probated yesterday, specifies the wearing apparel in which she was dressed for burial, setting out that Mrs. Mary Belle Graham should supervise the dressing of her body and that her hair should be dressed by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kinzley. A set of crystal beads given her by Rev. Herman Alerding was requested to be placed around her hand and $100 was appropriated for floral decorations. The coffin was to be metallic and on the lid was to rest a gold and silver cross she had stored away at the house. Mrs. Catherine Marie and her three daughters were named to take charge of the residence until the estate is placed in the hands of her executors. She requested that the funeral services be held at St. Joseph's Catholic Church and that she be buried in the Catholic Cemetery beside her husband, Warren Tate. Two thousand dollars is set aside to be spent for masses sung for repose of her and her husband's souls, and $2,000 is to be invested, the interest of which is to memorial days.

Sarah Gasper receives the horse Bonnie Belle Tate, Margaret Eitel the parrot Polly Tate and the pet dog Fanny Tate, and Helen Ruckle another parrot called Polly Morris. Lizzie Billips is colored and was Mrs. Tate's washerwoman. Ella Bunting. of Cincinnati, is left all of the diamonds. watch and jewelry, which are said to be worth several thousand dollars. The entire estate is estimated to be worth $50,000. Rev. Father Alerding and Daniel Walt Court Will Decide Who Is Entitled to Ralph Williamson.

Judge Leathers yesterday issued a writ of habeas corpus to compel Samuel E. Kinnick and his wife, Martha O. Kinnick to bring their grandson, Ralph Williamson, seven and one-half years old, into court at 9 o'clock Thursday morning to show by what legal right he is retained at their home, 820 Fletcher avenue. The suit was instituted by Pearl A. Williamson, who lack of tracks and the white special of the says she married George W. Williamson, your business when it expires.

Nov. 18, 1891, and was divorced May 8, 1893. In the decree she asserts that she was given the custody of their son Ralph, and has since been keeping him until last June, when she alleges the defendants came to her home and took the boy and have since detained him. She says they have no legal right to keep him, as the only privilege extended in the decree was to his father, allowing him to visit his son once a day, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock.

AN ALTERNATIVE WRIT.

Judge Carter Acts in Suit of City Against Union Railway Company. Judge Carter yesterday issued an order commanding the alternative writ issued in the mandamus proceedings against the Union Railway Company to compel it to elevate its tracks, brought by the city, and setting the hearing for Sept. 3.

Damage Suit Compromised. The suit of Alice Ford against the Consumers' Gas Company and Caroline Schaub. for damages for injuries received in the explosion that blew up the building at Massachusetts avenue and North street last fall, was compromised in Judge Carter's court yesterday for $2,000. This was the only jury case to be tried in Judge Carter's court during the two remaining weeks of court and a panel for the July term had to be drawn for its special use.

Petition in Bankruptcy. William A. Coppock, a wall paper dealer of Indianapolis, yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court. His liabilities are $3,446.87; assets, $2,198.03.

K. C. and Nature.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: Life always seems on the alert to cover up the deformities of death. There seems to be a loving spirit of gentleness and pity in the presence of death, both with the animal and vegetable life. The woodland moss spreads a carpet of green over the decaying logs of fallen trees so neatly it looks like a wave of life that stopped to sleep in the deep shade of the grove. The ivy graciously climbs all over the old dead oak, fly-out scored Frisbee. Lachance singled, hanging its banner of life on the outer walls, till every decayed spot is covered. No rotten wood or broken bark is seen. The stubs of fallen boughs are festooned with emerald till all seems to be a monument of life. The trumpet vine lovingly covers the old, decaying worm fence, hiding every broken rail, and the old stump beside, with the deep green foliage, weaving all into a mound of life, and then holding we almost stop, and, with our hand to the ear, listen for a prolonged bugle note of life. But beneath these living carpets mantles, banners and flowers all is death. So at Kansas City on the 4th, the flag ignored for thirty years, will be waved the Independence day that five years o war could not destroy will be glorifiedwell, thanks for that-but beneath all this living hurrah, waving of flags, oratory, beer, broken glasses and empty bottles poor, lifeless 16 to 1 will sleep, dead, very dead, covered with cigar stumps and the Chicago platform and other wreckage-there she lies below, while the rest lie J. There was work and plenty of it for a baseball evangelist at Washington Park yesterday afternoon, for the Indianapolis players were in a demoralized state throughout the nine innings, with the exception of one inning, when they hit the ball and made a quartet of runs. It was due to this demoralizing effect that Cleveland managed to carry off a victory by a score of 7 to 5. The poor playing began in the second inning, when Hartsel dropped a fly ball. After that it was first one man and then another who gave a raw exhibition of errors and boys' play. The contagion was catching and spread rapidly among the Indianapolis players, but the Cleveland players were immuned, and the worse the Hoosiers grew the better and faster work the visitors displayed.

Magoon, Hogriever and Geier, was so completely overshadowed by the loose and seemingly inexcusable work of the others that the crowd did not give them credit for the showing they made against such odds. Heydon seemed to lose complete control of his baseball sense and his throwing arm and made so many wild throws to the bases that the other men fell into the error-making trench. Madison, at short, was very erratic, and quit the game in the fifth inning, Flynn going to short. Guese, who was on the slab for the Indianapolis team, fought hard against the overwhelming odds, but he succumbed, and in the seventh gave three bases on balls, which proved disastrous. He did well up to that time and, no doubt, with decent support, would have pitched a much better game. A big fellow, with the French name of Fauvre, did the twirling for Cleveland, and he did it well. The men behind him afforded him encouragement by playing a superb game. Sullivan, at third, made a remarkable one-hand catch of a line drive from Flynn's bat and Spies took in a foul against the grand stand. Other members of the visiting team also contributed their share of good plays to help Fauvre along. In the sixth the Hoosiers really played ball and hit Fauvre often, but their lead was quickly lost in the next inning. The only missed play charged against the Cleveland players was made by Sullivan, when he fumbled Flynn's sacrifice in the fourth inning. To add to all the aggravating work Magoon was injured in the seventh inning by sliding into third base. His hand was badly cut by being spiked by Sullivan. Barnes played second the remainder of the game. Indianapolis had a good chance of winning out in the last inning, as Seybold, who went to bat for Guese, was hit and Hogriever sent him to third with a single, but the next three men flew out. The longest hit to the right field territory made this season was accomplished by Flood in the fourth inning, when he lifted one over the right field fence above the high trimmings over one of the signs. The Cleveland batters were refired in easy order in the first inning, but disastrous work resulted in giving them a tally in the second. After Sullivan had been retired Hartsel muffed Lachance's fly, allowing the runner to reach second. Flood hit a hard one to Madison, which struck him on the ankle. Lachance started home and scored on Madison's wild throw to the plate. Flood went to second, reaching the bag on Heydon's wild throw in returning the ball. The next two men went out. Flood's home run in the fourth gave the visitors one more. The Hoosiers scored their first one in the last half of the fourth. Magoon hit safely and Geler walked. Flynn sacrificed and reached first on Sullivan's error. Gray flew out to left and Magoon scored. Heydon flew out to Pickering and run was made by Cleveland in the sixth. Sullivan hit for two bases and Lachance placed one against the right field fence for a double, scoring Sullivan. Flood went out and Lachance reached third. Crisham dropped one in front of the plate and Heydon caught Lachance as he tried to score

Spies then flew out. INDIANS MAKE FOUR. The Indians made four in the last half of the sixth, going two in the lead. Geier led off with a beautiful three-base drive. Flynn connected with one and Sullivan shot out his gloved hand. The ball was imbedded in the mitt. Gray came up and hit safely, sending Geier across the plate. Heydon then hit for three bases, scoring Gray. Hickey followed with a single, scoring Heydon. Hickey stole second and Guese flew out. Hogriever scored Hickey with a single and Hartsel went out. In the seventh inning Guese left terra firma for a sojourn of entirely too long a duration, for when he descended the visitors had overcome the Hoosiers' lead and gone a couple to the front. Fauvre flew out and Guese then passed Pickering and Frisbee. A passed ball advanced both men, when Genins scored Pickering with a single, sending Frisbee to third. Sullivan's sending Genins to third. Lachance stole second and Genins crossed the Guese again grew liberal and sent Flood to first on a pass. The men attempted a double steal and Heydon threw into left field, allowing Lachance to score and Flood to reach third. Crisham ended the agony by flying out. That was the last scoring done. Baseball Notes. Geier again played a star game.

Heydon was badly off yesterday. There were others. Sullivan's one-handed catch surprised nim more than any one else. If Magoon should have been seriously inured it would be bad for the Hoosiers. The hot weather yesterday had a bad effect on Madison. He retired from the game, troubled with heat and errors.

Hartsel is not himself by any means. His error yesterday was on an easy chance, and his batting is far below his standard. It is tough luck that the Hoosiers cannot give Guese better support when he is in the box. He has been up against it all season

Indianapolis plays at Cleveland this afternoon and two games to-morrow, morning and afternoon. The Hoosiers return home Thursday to meet Detroit for three days, and then the western clubs will all play here. Probably in that time Indianapolis can crawl to the top.

TERRE HAUTE TROTS.

ginning This Afternoon.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 2.-For the first time in a number of years the Trotting Association is to hold a midsummer harness meeting for four days, beginning to-morrow. There are twelve events and while the fields are not large, the racing will be of a high order. As in other cities the entries were not numerous, but unlike a number of cities, Terre Haute refused to declare the meeting off. Five of the events were reopened after the first date for closing them that further entries might be made, but not many more came in. The programme is for the 2:40 trot and the 2:25 and 2:22 pace to-morrow; the 2:25 trot (purse $2,000), 2:12 trot and 2:18 pace Wednesday; 2:06 and 2:11 pace and 2:16 trot

Thursday, and 2:14 pace, 2:12 and 2:22 trot The greatest interest of the week is centered on the 2:25 trot Wednesday for the reason that there are three candidates for the big M. & M. purse at Detroit among the entries. These are Annie Burns, in the rum, whose 2:191/4 at Denver was the best time for a green horse in a race this year, Detroit track when they go after the $10,- |-2:15. Umpires-Breitenstein and Foster. 000, and Maud C., in Brannigan's stable To make the race more interesting there is an unknown quantity in the race, Extinct, by Extradition, out of Instinct, a Louisiana green horse that is credited with wonderful speed. Tom Dickerson's Gayety, who has shown 2:14, also is in the race. On the Fourth, in addition to the horse races, there will be three automobile races, one each for two, three and five miles.
